Tresidents Message

by Nadine Frankel

The big news has been the announcement of who would be our next rabbi. By now everyone knows that Lisa Bock will be our new spiritual leader. But does everyone know how she was chosen? Although we know and trust Lisa and love her, that is not the reason she was picked.

Let me explain the process. A committee was formed for the sole purpose of choosing a successor to Rabbi Mike. It consisted of three board members, Steven Graff, Gary Goltz, and Sarene Wallace; one staff member, Julia Newman; and three congregants, Jean Shev, Bonnie Shugg, and Karen Greenberg. The committee was meant to represent a diverse cross section of our congregation. The congregational members were a senior, a baby boomer, and a Torah school mother. Prior to the formation of the committee, all temple members were asked to fill out a survey of what they were seeking in a rabbi and rank each quality by importance. There was approximately a 50% response rate. There were quite a few resumes sent in, and after the initial consideration there were nine candidates.

Finally three very strong candidates remained, and all were interviewed. The committee members took their job very seriously. There was much discussion and soul searching. Each candidate was considered using the paradigm created by the survey. One candidate emerged as the right one for us: Lisa Bock. This was the committee's recommendation to the board and the board voted unanimously to offer the position to Lisa.

Lisa has been our Student Rabbi for some years, and also teaches our B'nai Mitzvah kids. She brings a lot of enthusiasm and dedication to our Temple. Like Rabbi Mike, this is a second career for her. Young people sometimes fall into a career path without much thought. When a mature, successful person decides to go back to school for an arduous course of study, you can be sure that that person is motivated by a strong pull, a "calling," if you will. One goal that she has confided to me, is to foster a culture of open, honest communication at Temple Ner Ami. She will be accessible to all of us as we continue to build a strong community. Let's all join together in joyfully giving Lisa Bock all of our support when she steps up to the Bimah as our Chief Rabbi in July.

And while we will welcome Rabbi Lisa with joy, we can't help but feel some loss at Rabbi Mike's changing role. Michael Lotker has been with Temple Ner Ami from the beginning, first as a Student Rabbi, and later as our Rabbi. He has served us with honor and dedication, been our teacher, conducted our life cycle events, and represented us very well in the community.

Your Board of Directors is very appreciative that he has agreed to stay and continue to be a presence at our temple, as Rabbi Emeritus. He will continue to be a blessing to us with his wisdom and experience.

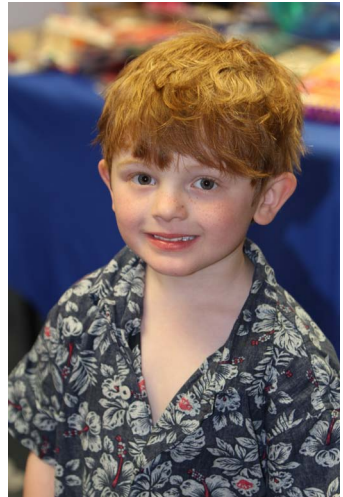

Be Happy! It's Adar!

by Lisa Bock

The scholars of the Talmud say that our joy and happiness should increase in the month of Adar. After all, we did celebrate Purim in Adar, and our sages say that the month of Adar is filled with hidden blessing.

As we look at the pictures that fill most of this page, we can all see the not-so-hidden joy and happiness of Adar. Let us all kvell in the joy and the blessing that fills the faces and smiles of those seen here in our TNA building and parking lot to overflowing with the celebration of Purim.

With joy and blessing, Rabbi Lisa

Cheder Chappenings at Temple Ner Ami

by Julia Newman

Shalom Haverim,

Our monthly class-led Shabbat services continued with the 4th & 5th grade leading the service in February and the 2nd & 3rd graders leading March's family service.

Esther" was the program for the night. We tried some new technology for our Megillah reading—an animated video story of Purim—with Esther, Mordecai, and the King. Of course, we used old-time groggers to drown out the name of Haman (boo).

The last couple of months we have tried something new with our family Shabbat nights—and that is to open the dinner to the entire congregation and not just the class that is leading the service. This has proven to be very successful as more and more people seem to be coming to the dinners and attending the service. We are planning to continue this through the remainder of the school year.

I hope that everyone will start to attend. If we run out of room in the Fellowship Hall— we'll eat in the Sanctuary (which is what we did in March)! The family service is a wonderful way to support kids and teachers in the school, and to participate in different kinds of services—with poetry, plays, art, videos.

Show up for dinner. Find out what's cookin' in April.

B'shalom,
Julia

Teachers Gil Ramot and Saul Lessler helped students Ziv Carmi, Noah Harris, Annie Mascot, Emily Sadowsky, and Ryan Sassower to prepare for the service. The theme of "Peace" was expressed through the prayers and songs that the students led. Their program featured individual thoughts and drawings about peace and the entire service culminated with a rousing musical video, leading the congregation in an African-American spiritual "Peace Like A River."

Our fun Purim Shabbat was led by 2nd & 3rd graders Bella Budin Caloroso, Jacob Greenberg, Simon Harris, Chloe Kamola, Talia Lieb, Austin Lowenschuss, Shea Sadowsky, Emily Sassower, and Ben Scheerger. Cantor Karen Dworsky and madricha Rena Dvoretzky helped the students to prepare. The Purim spiel "Everybody Wants To Be

Chaverware Synagogue Management Software

Last year the company that provided the software we use for Temple Management, Rekefet, closed down. The program was inadequate for our needs when they were around to support it; without them, we needed to replace it. We settled on a program called Chaverware. While many of the reasons we chose it would only interest the accountants among us, there are some aspects of Chaverware that the entire membership needs to know about—very soon, because members will have direct access to their information online.

The biggest feature of interest is that all members will very shortly be able to access, modify, and add to their membership information, as well as make secure online payments of dues, tuition, donations, or tributes. This has the potential to greatly reduce the amount of time spent processing payments.

In addition to allowing members to check for things like correct addresses and spellings, the new system will allow members to add or correct Yahrzeit dates, and to add nicknames, Hebrew names, and other relevant personal information to the database. They can choose which information will be seen or hidden in the Temple Member Directory. Members will be able to see a complete history of their transactions, too. Eventually, we will even be able to use the system to make reservations for special events like dinners, enroll in classes, and even make selections for Purim baskets (Purim came just before the software was ready this year—Chaverware is a MUCH nicer system for the basket fundraiser.)

One of my favorite parts of the program is the way it allows us to make Tributes—donations that are made to commemorate a special event in the life of a fellow TNA member, like a birthday or graduation. This is very popular with many members, and this system will remove most of the hassle. It will also simplify the process for sponsoring Onegs or similar events.

Access to the Chaverware data in our system will be through our TNA website (once we are ready to "go live" with the program, links will be added on the website). By the time everyone is reading this, we hope to have the entire congregation added to the online program, but it may take a few days longer. If you have not already received a letter or email with your login information, keep your eyes open. And while we finish getting the system operational, please have a look at the website itself—more information about TNA activities is being added every day. Keith Elliott

Do you and your loved ones have enough nutritious food? Has this economy made it even more difficult? Food Share provided fresh food to over 73,000 people each month in 2010. There is an enormous need in Ventura County. Food Share's mission statement: "dedicated to feeding, nourishing, and educating the hungry in Ventura County, educating the community on those who are hungry and why, and advocating a reduction of the root causes of hunger."

Food Share volunteers gather and distribute food through a network of charitable agencies. Our own Somis Pantry is an agency of Food Share. We go there two-three times each week to get food for our Pantry.

Check out Food Share at: www.foodshare.com to learn how to volunteer, donate, and contribute. One in six people in Ventura County is hungry. When you plant your vegetable garden plant an extra row to share. Volunteer opportunities at Food Share include: picking produce at local farms, delivering meals, teaching children healthy food choices, assisting in processing applications for CalFresh (formerly Food Stamps), hosting food drives, and more.

Julia and her dedicated group of volunteers would appreciate your help the second Tuesday of the month at the Somis Pantry. Our food of the month for the Somis Pantry includes jams, jellies, and preserves. Any donation is greatly appreciated.

Please call me.....and as always....thank you for all you do!

Religious Practices & Membership

by Keith Elliott

This month, I would like to talk about Volunteering. We have been so fortunate in recent months to see many of our traditional programs coming back, and we have a very full slate of programs, classes, and other activities planned for the future. This means we are going to need volunteers, of course. Volunteering is not only a mitzvah to the TNA community, it's one of the best ways I know to connect members of our congregation with each other. I have several programs that I need assistance with, but two are at the top of the list right now.

First is for our Passover Seder on April 7th. We are having a Pot Luck service, and it is my honor that I was asked to lead the service. Karin Greenberg is coordinating the food and dishes, and we need a few more people to help us with the setup, cleanup, and just general traffic directing on the evening of the event. There will possibly be one meeting beforehand to go over plans. Last year, we had a terrific turnout, and we expect the same this year- and Karin and I can't manage it all alone. 5 to 8 people on our "Passover team" would be wonderful.

I have mentioned before that I would like to start an Ushering program for Friday Night services at TNA. For several reasons, this has become very important. For one, our Oneg Chair Naomi Brill has been doing more than her duty to make our Shabbat Onegs wonderful each and every week, and I want to have people at her disposal to help. Another important reason is that lately we have been having more frequent visits from non-members, coming not only for services but to get a taste of our community.

Here is what a Shabbat Usher would be asked to do-

- Arrive approximately 30 minutes before the service, to assist with setting up the Oneg and arranging the "furniture" for the service-the candlesticks, etc.
- Greet people at the door, offer prayer books, and (when they are ready) help distribute-and retrieve- nametags for our members.
- After the service, give the sanctuary a quick cleanup, to make sure we are leaving the room in appropriate shape for the Church's service Sunday morning.
- Assist with the clean-up after the Oneg.

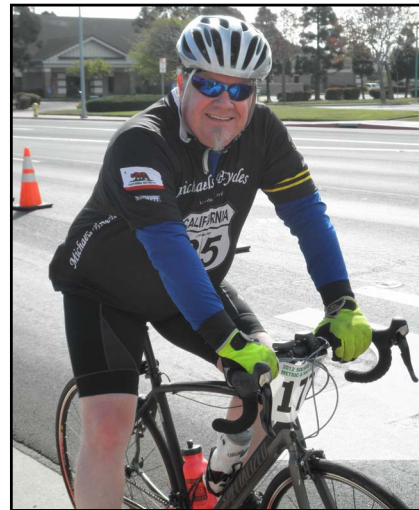

There will always be a representative from the Board of Directors there as well, so between the Board Rep and the Usher, we can be assured that everyone, member and non-member alike, is greeted and made to feel welcome. My experience with a program of this type at a much larger temple is that the "work" part of the duties is very minimal, but the rewards of meeting fellow congregants are greater than people expect at first. Give it a try!

I would like to have 8 or more people that I could call on in rotation for this duty-couples ushering together are very welcome as well. I would especially love to have entire families, children as well, all working together on a given evening. This could be a perfect opportunity for B'nai Mitzvah families to take part in a Temple event together, too.

So take the step and try volunteering for one of these teams-a congregation may be led by its Clergy, it may be managed by its Directors, but it really RUNS on its volunteers!

And finally, a BIG THANK YOU to all who were kind enough to sponsor my ride in the Solvang Century bicycle ride! In spite of getting sick the night before, I was able to complete 47 miles, and the pledges received came to nearly $1000 for TNA. I especially need to MEMBERSHIP

This month, I am going to talk about something that is always difficult to discuss-reduced dues.

But wait-please don't stop reading yet! I do not mean to just make the usual appeal for money. Instead I'd like to talk about how we decide the way that we rank the important things in our lives. More than that, I just want to talk a little bit about my own experience.

To start with, I should let people know that my family was on reduced dues for several years; we are very familiar with the hardships faced by families in this time. We were always impressed with how the TNA community does not "expose" people in that position, and how trust in our assessment of our situation was always shown to us by the Temple management. I also sincerely hope that our members paying reduced amounts also feel as comfortable.

After the first Town Hall meeting last Spring-the one decided we needed to find other ways in our life to scrimp or save than our Temple Dues. The details are not important-in fact, they wouldn't even be relevant-the bottom line was that we realized the importance of helping preserve a Reform temple for future generations. That was the "leap" we had to make-we had joined TNA for the Torah School, and our needs and expectations were driven by the duty to provide our daughter a proper Jewish education. Only after that was finished did it start to become apparent to us that our responsibility was greater. We literally felt that the survival of our congregation COULD come down to a single dollar, and we couldn't bear the thought that that dollar might have been ours.

I am not the Dues Chairman, and I do not mean to sound as though I am exhorting people to pay more money. What I am exhorting people to do is to examine their vision of what the future of Reform Judaism in Camarillo might be. To survive, we need to stop looking at what our Temple can do for us, but look at what we can do for our Temple (thank you, JFK.) I am asking all of us to think of themselves as members, not as people who attend one type of event or another. If we all take Pray as if everything depended on God; act as if everything depended on you.

personal ownership of our Temple, we can't help but ensure its survival for all generations to come. There are many ways to contribute to TNA; we are very much in need of volunteers, for example (see my other article in this issue.) We are going through some exciting changes and growth in our offerings-do you know people that are currently unaffiliated? Why not try bringing a guest along one Shabbat service. There are many ways you can assist your Temple. Did you know that as a Member, you truly are, in a legal sense, a part owner of the organization? It isn't just rhetoric to say it's your Temple.

Once my family made the mental leap from TNA being the Temple we attended to TNA being Our Temple, the ways to increase our commitment became evident to us. All I am asking is that you take a look at your own view of TNA, and to remember that as a member, you own TNA. It is your Temple.

It's one of the most oft-cited quotes around; we all know it by heart, but it's so well-known because it is such true and good advice:

"Pray as if everything depended on God...act as if everything depends on you."

MOVIE NIGHT

Saturday Night, April 28th, 6:30 PM

This version of "The Jazz Singer" is loaded with drama, music, and romance. It is an update of the classic 1927 movie, "The Jazz Singer" (with Al Jolson).

In this version, Neil Diamond stars as Yussel in this tale of a young Jewish cantor who strives to make a career in popular music. Against the wishes of his Orthodox father (Sir Lawrence Olivier) and his loving wife, Yussel travels to California (Los Angeles and Venice) to play his music. Swept up by the excitement, he meets a woman who shares his dream. He grows apart from his family, and ultimately becomes confused about what he should do with his life.

Neil Diamond's music and singing are always wonderful. In addition to the music, there is the drama of the struggle within him, and between him and his parents: Follow my dream or respect and obey my parents?

Can these people, who basically love each other, find any way to work this out so that the son and his parents can get back together as "family?"

Come and enjoy the movie. Afterwards, Shlomo Kreitzer will lead a discussion, including: How much and when should parents "let go?" What do children "owe" their parents?

April Selection:

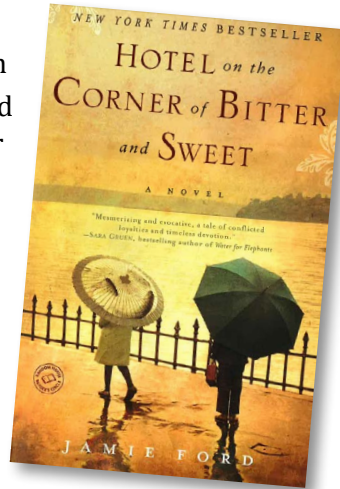

Hotel on the Corner of Bitter and Sweet by Jamie Ford

An impressive, bitter and sweet novel that explores the age-old conflicts between a Chinese father and son and the depth and longing of the son's deep heart felt love for Keiko, a Japanese girl.

The book also reminds us of shameful episode in American history: the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War II.

The book also cautions us to examine the present and to take heed that the United States doesn't repeat those injustices. (review from amazon.com)

Please join us in the library Tuesday, April 10th at 10:30 am to discuss this fascinating book.

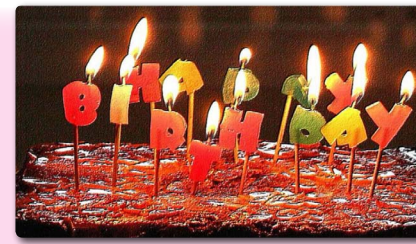

Honorable Menschen

Congratulations are in order to Rena Dvoretzky, daughter of Sharon Spielman and Aaron Dvoretzky, for placing second in the Ventura County Spelling Bee. Rena earned a trip to the national spelling bee in Washington, DC as Ventura County's alternate.

Thanks are in order to Bonnie Shubb who has been volunteering her time in the Temple office to help Kaila with the year-end file reorganization. Also kudos to Keith Elliot for his help with the changeover in our accounting system from Rakefet to our new and much richer and more powerful system software, Chaverware, and the Quickbooks accounting software it works with.

Praises to Annelies Regen for faithfully coming to the Temple every Friday morning to help Mark in the office. Her service is both a blessing to those she helps, and an example of how much opportunity there is to serve when we decide to consistently offer all the gifts God has given us.

Please send your "Honorable Menschen" items to Mark Malloy at admin@templenerami.org.

TEMPLE

The Brotherhood is Swinging into Action

The March meeting of the Temple Ner Ami Brotherhood was highlighted by a very positive discussion about the brotherhood becoming as active as possible in both Temple Ner Ami and our community of Camarillo. We encourage as many male temple members as possible to become active in our brotherhood. Even if you can only spare the time to get involved in a few activities or events, we encourage your participation. There is greater success in numbers, and a bonus of doing good things for Temple Ner Ami as well as our surrounding communities. Membership is $36 per year which amounts to three dollars per month. The next meeting is Thursday, April 12, 2012 at 7 P.M. at Temple Ner Ami. There are some very interesting events that we want to promote and to participate in, but in order to make them a success we need your participation.

Many Brotherhood members helped to set-up and man booths for the Purim Carnival, which was held on March 4, 2012 at Temple Ner Ami. From the comments we heard by attendees, it was "a good time had by all".

There are a few other activity items on our agenda as well. Plans call for a Mitzvah Day on Sunday April 29, 2012, which will involve assistance with the Sisterhood project. We will help with projects with the community at care centers, or doing work at Ner Ami, from 1-4 P.M. Why not join us and lend a hand for good causes?

The Brotherhood is also planning to assist and help promote a "Comedy Night" with professional talent and light food to be available at the event. Look for the flyer in this issue with more details about the event.

In addition the Brotherhood is planning programs including speakers, field trips and evenings or days of recreational or informational tours or activities. We also like to sit around after meetings and play cards, chit-chat and have some laughs. We have a great core group of members and we would love to have you join us.

Why not come to the next meeting and see for yourself? Come on out and join a night with the "boys." Try it! We think you'll like it. The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday April 12, 2012 at 7:00 P.M. at Temple Ner Ami.

TODAH RABBAH - Means Thank You!

Message from Naomi Brill, Oneg Chair

Thank you to our March Oneg Sponsors.

They were:

March 2 - MAX HELLER in memory of his father, Michael Heller, and MURIEL ROSENKRANZ in memory of her father, Abraham Tenenbaum and her mother-in-law, Sarah Rosenhkranz.

March 9 - GLORIA BRODIE sponsored in memory of her husband, J. Steve Brodie, and her father-in-law, Isadore Burt Brodie. MAX AND JOSEPHINE FREIFELD in memory of Max's former wife, Louise J. Freifeld.

March 16 - BOBBE and DALE JACOBS in memory of Bobbe's mother, MILLIE COHEN, and JEAN SHEV in memory of Marvin Krantz.

As of this writing, I have no sponsors for the rest of the month but I know that will change and it will be my pleasure to give you their names in next month's MEGILLAH.

Please call me to offer your services as a sponsor of an Oneg. This can be done in memory of a loved one or in celebration of an important event in your lives. You can either bring some of the food that is served or give the Temple a check to cover our expenses. I look forward to hearing from you.

Shalom,

Naomi Brill

Star of David

Today, the Star of David is a ubiquitous Jewish symbol. However, this widespread use is a relatively recent development. In fact, if you asked King David about the star that bears his name, he'd probably have no idea what you were talking about.

In the times of the Temple, rather than a star, the Jewish people were represented by the icon of a menorah, symbolizing Temple worship. The first recorded appearance of the star was on a stone in a 4th-century synagogue in the Galilee region of Israel. It appeared on the famous Leningrad Codex--the oldest complete manuscript of the Hebrew Bible--which dates from around 1000 CE. But the star didn't regularly appear in Jewish art until the 17th century, when it spread quickly as a symbol to identify Jewish neighborhoods and synagogues. The six-pointed star wasn't always exclusive to Jews--it's also been used in other cultures--in pagan art, for instance, and as a feature of Satanic rituals.

During the Holocaust, Jews were forced to wear six-pointed stars identifying themselves as Jews. Today, however, the star has been appropriated for several positive meanings--for the Israeli flag, for Magen David Adom (the Israeli version of Red Cross), and simply to signify that something's Jewish. A recent Internet meme illustrates (right) that each letter of the Hebrew alphabet can be traced out in its formative lines. That's probably not what the originators of the star had in mind--whoever they were--but, regardless, it's a cool parlor trick.

Holocaust Remembrance Day
Service & Screening

At a time when much of the world turned a blind eye toward the Holocaust, 23 year old Hannah Senesh could not stand idly by. 'There are times when one is commanded to do something.' Hannah wrote on the eve of her return mission to Hungary. Her last mission. We celebrate Hannah's legacy, courage and writing.

BLESSED is the match consumed in kindling flame.
Blessed is the flame that burns in the secret fastness of the heart.
Blessed is the heart with the strength to stop its beating for honor's sake.
Blessed is the match consumed in kindling flame.
